

The Bridging Mental Health Network is a recently founded initiative aiming to promote interdisciplinary exchange of mental health research undertaken at the University of Cambridge.

Venue

Wednesdays 5.30 - 6.30 PM
Lightfoot Room
Old Divinity School
St John's College
University of Cambridge

Contact

Tanay Katiyar
tk654@cam.ac.uk
Johanna Silva-Stüger
js2918@cam.ac.uk

Programme

Michaelmas Term '25: Defining and Measuring Mental Health
5 Nov	Anna Alexandrova & Sebastian Rodriguez Duque (Philosophy of Science)	Why Mental Health Is Hard To Measure
26 Nov	Adam Hunt (Biological Anthropology)	What Counts As A Mental Dysfunction?
Lent Term '26: Cross-Cultural and Ethnographic Perspectives
25 Feb	Sarah Marks (History)	Nature/Nuture in Historical Perspective: The Case of Intergenerational Trauma
18 Mar	Mikkel Kenni Bruun (Social Anthropology)	Beyond the 'Cross-Cultural': Thinking Ethnographically About Mental Health
Easter Term '26: Charting the Terrain - Nosology, Diagnosis & Beyond
27 May	Camilla Nord (Neuroscience)	What is Computational Psychiatry?
17 June	Tim Dalglish (Clinical Psychology)	Transdiagnostic Approaches to Mental Health - Progress and Challenges